

THE PRESS ON BUTTERCUP:

"Buttercup conjures an alternate universe where Ray Davies and David Byrne collaborate on jangly pop songs with unexpected twists in the shade of the Alamo." NPR

"Keeping things fresh, fun and outside comfort zones has kept Buttercup a vital and relevant act." San Antonio Express News

"Buttercup is important." San Antonio Current

"Around these parts, art-rock lifers Buttercup hardly need an introduction. They make songs about our city and songs about everything else, too. They make silly songs and important songs and old-school rock 'n' roll songs and indie-rock songs and so much more. All that they do is imbued with a sense of lightness and humor, which lends their music an infectious feeling of buoyancy" San Antonio Current

WHAT THE CRITICS ARE SAYING ABOUT BATTLE OF FLOWERS, BUTTERCUP'S NEW RECORD:

"Simply perfect pop... Buttercup have delivered a total package. Highly recommended" – Popdose

"like Lou Reed fronting a great Psych Band... may be their best ever" – I Don't Hear a Single

"Satisfying our urges, Buttercup spares nothing, and allows us a look at everything." – Impose

"the best thing Buttercup has ever put out, dynamic and bursting at the seams with pure rock and roll bliss." – San Antonio Current

"pops and crackles with wit" – A Pessimist is Never Disappointed

"Battle of Flowers takes the listener on an open-ended eargasmic adventure" – SATX Music

"Texas pop-rock vets return with sharp riffs & sharper wits" – Darryl Sterden

"every song has a strong hook" – Colorado Springs Independent

"These compositions show just how great pop music can be in 2017. There's not a bad track here, they're all great. Highly recommended. TOP PICK." – BabySue

"bawdy but beautiful, reverent but rambunctious, savvy yet saccharine, knowing yet naive... full of off-kilter pop splendor" – San Antonio Current
